Dear LEA Member and Guests,

On behalf of the LEA Board of Directors, it is my pleasure to welcome you to the LEA's 89th Annual Educational Conference at the Ft. Lauderdale Marriott Harbor Beach Resort in Ft. Lauderdale, FL.

We are providing a choice of three separate Two Hour workshops followed by a choice of three separate One Hour sessions, all of which qualify for Continuing Education credits.

The General Session includes three segments, the first is motivational speaker, Morgan Luttrell, Former Navy Seal Lieutenant & Former Senior Advisor of Veteran Relations with the Department of Energy, the second is on Bitcoin and the third is the Property Law Case Update. All of these topics should prove to be very interesting, informative and generate discussion amongst the audience.

The workshops include a variety of topics such as Assignment of Benefits, Early & Combined Involvement of the Adjustment Team: Controlling the Course and the Costs of Major Losses, The Price of Modern Technology, The Lloyd's Market – A Look at Life Inside the Square Mile, Recurring Issues in Builder's Risk Claims, and Moral Purpose and Organizational Resilience. These presentations will provide a balanced and informative program which we hope you will find entertaining and educational.

As a gentle reminder, for those attendees requiring Continuing Education credits, please remember that CE forms are to be signed by only an authorized LEA CE delegate and/or by the instructor of each session. No partial credit will be given. Attendees must attend the full sessions to receive CE credit for that session. All forms, including your license number, are to be submitted at the close of the conference. There will be no exceptions for credit if your forms are not submitted or have missing license numbers.

In addition, by attending the LEA session you consent that your picture may be in one of the wonderful photographs that are taken during the LEA conference. The photos may be published or otherwise used by the LEA, which retains exclusive ownership thereof and this consent is voluntary with no expectation of compensation now or in the future. If you do not wish your photo to be taken, simply tell our roving photographer and she will be more than happy to accommodate your request.

We are extremely pleased to be returning to Ft. Lauderdale and look forward to an educational and successful meeting.

Best Regards,

Paul Aviles

	To maximize results, Luttrell has focused on principals from the military’s Mission Success Philosophy. Luttrell’s dedication to teamwork and collaboration has established him as an influential force across several industries. Discipline honed from his military experience combined with his dedication to using machine learning and artificial intelligence to compute complex data has led to the breakdown of silos, faster more precise statistical outcomes, and the creation of cross-functional teams that have resulted in a greater impact for companies and causes.

The Lloyd's of London insurance market and how it operates can sometimes be perceived as complicated, rigid and perhaps even old fashioned. This seminar aims to dispel these perceptions. We aim to clearly educate the attendee as to how claims are handled in the Lloyd's market, both domestically and in conjunction with international insurers.

We will focus on the composition of the market. We will clearly explain the processes within Lloyd's claims handling and how these may differ from our international counterparts. We will also focus upon the individual roles various stakeholders perform.

In addition, there will be a specific focus on the 'Future at Lloyd's' and how this may change the claims landscape for future generations of claims professionals working within the 'Square Mile'.

Workshop 5 (1 Hour)

Builder’s Risk Claims: Recurring and Emerging Issues

Builder’s risk insurance, with its varied and often manuscripted policy wording, can present unique coverage and adjustment issues—along with traps for the unwary. This workshop will focus on several recurring and emerging issues in builder’s risk claims, including challenges that can arise out of the naming of general contractors and subcontractors as additional insureds (whose claim is it?); the “exes” that vex (expediting expense, extra expense, and extended general conditions); and policy wording intended to constrain or clarify the insurer’s obligations regarding particular types of losses.

Moderator	Samuel H. Ruby, Esq., Insurance Law Practice Group Leader Bullivant Houser Bailey PC
Participants	John Roberts, Vice President, Specialty Energy & Construction Claims AIG
	Granger Struck Executive Vice President, Builder’s Risk Practice Lead J.S. Held LLC

Workshop 6 (1 Hour)

Building Personal and Organizational Resilience for Dealing with Crisis and Loss: The Case of Sandler O’Neil & Partners.

The single most important factor necessary to increase an organization’s ability to rebound from crisis and loss is the degree to which the organization and its people are RESILIENT. Resilience is the ability to absorb high levels of disruptive change and stress while displaying minimal dysfunctional behavior.

Personal resilience is directly related to the health, motivation and productivity of individuals. Organizational resilience is related to increased agility, adaptability and performance. When resilience is high, people feel energized, their work is exciting, and things seem to happen almost effortlessly. When resilience is low, people feel depressed, their work is monotonous, and everything seems like a chore. This workshop examines the relationship between personal and organizational resilience and identifies attributes, strategies, and methods for improving coping skills and building resilience for employees and customers.

Through individual and group exercises, participants will learn the factors that increase and decrease resilience and identify strategies and methods for building and maintaining resilience. The outcome of this workshop will be a grounded theory of action for improving personal and organizational resilience at the individual and organizational level following crisis and loss.
